Trickle

Trickle helps organisations to put their people first. We know higher levels of employee engagement results in greater motivation, better productivity and increased levels of employee retention.

We at Trickle are champions of the working environment of the future — we want to help organisations create cultures which truly care about what their people think (good, bad or indifferent), just as much as they care about their customers.

Our platform gives people the opportunity to voice their opinions in a natural way (not through surveys), helping you to really understand the key areas for improvement or even, ideas & suggestions which may not have already been thought about.
